

October 10, 2025

Dear Residents, Families & Staff:

The Open Interviews that took place this past Wednesday, 10/8/2025 were a huge success and brought 28 candidates in for on-the-spot interviews. Applicants interviewed for a variety of positions including: Registered Nurse, RN Supervisor, Certified Nursing Assistant, Security Officer, Server, and Utility Workers. Human Resources has started the process of offering positions to some of the candidates who best fit the needs of the departments. Out of these 28 candidates, we have 16 pending offers made to candidates who came to these Open Interviews! Thank you to everyone who helped spread the word about this event and a big thank you to everyone who assisted with interviews and greeted the candidates on that day.

Health & Wellness

We will be hosting a COVID Vaccine Clinic on Tuesday, October 28th in the Health and Wellness Department. We will be taking the names of those wishing to reserve a dose. The deadline to sign up is by noon on October 17th. Please call 610-359-4417 between 9am-3pm Monday through Friday to add your name to the list. Once we have an exact count, we will notify you of the assigned timeslots to receive the vaccine. If you have signed up, you will receive paperwork to fill out prior to the clinic day. You will be expected to bring the completed paperwork with you on the day of the clinic. There will be an observation period of 15 minutes following the vaccine. Please wear a short-sleeved shirt to the clinic to make the process go as smoothly as possible. The staff looks forward to seeing everyone!

Scam Alert

Residents have been reporting an increased number of scam attempts with scammers attempting to commit fraud or gain access to your personal information. Please take the time to read the information provided on the back of this memo.

Consumer Alert

Dunwoody residents: It has come to our attention that scammers and fraudsters are targeting many of our residents through various methods, including phone calls, text messages, emails, or social media in an attempt to obtain money or personal, medical, or financial information. Scammers may claim they need information to settle a debt, verify medical claims, for you to claim a prize, or to provide grant money. Once these criminals have your personal information, they will use it to steal money from you or commit fraud.

Residents are cautioned against sending money or sharing personal, medical, or financial information with unknown individuals who claim to be government officials, your grandchildren, friend or relative, the bank, charity organizers, or other types of legitimate businesses. If you believe you have been the target or victim of a scam, please report the contact to Delaware County Consumer Affairs via telephone 610-891-4865 or email at delcoca@co.delaware.pa.us. You should also check your bank and credit card statements and contact the bank and credit card company if you suspect that someone may have accessed or could access your account. You may also contact Patrice Porreca, the H&W social worker at 610-707-4898 or pporecca@dunwoody.org if you need help with this process.

Most Common Types of Scams

IRS and other government official imposter scams occur when someone contacts you pretending to work for a US government entity. The imposter may contact you by phone, email, postal mail, or even a text message. There are two common types of these scams:

Tax collection - You receive a phone call or letter, claiming that you owe taxes. They will demand that you pay the amount immediately, usually with a prepaid debit card, debit card, credit or wire transfer. They may even threaten to arrest you if you don't pay.

Verification - You receive an email or text message that requires you to verify your personal information. The message often includes a hyperlink phrase which reads "click here." Or, you may see a button that links you to a fraudulent form or website. Do NOT Click the link or respond to any of these forms of solicitations.

Friend or relative in need: You receive an email or text message from a name and email address you recognize requesting money. It's very possible that the person you think is emailing you has been hacked and the email is coming from a scammer. Do not open the email. Do not send money. Check your personal records for the phone number of your friend or relative and call them and let them know about the email you received. If the email has been hacked, the person should change their email address and password and notify those persons on their contact list.

Telephone scammers try to steal your money or personal information. Scams may come through phone calls from real people, robocalls, text messages or emails. Callers often make false promises, such as opportunities to buy products, invest your money, or receive free product trials. They may also offer you money through free grants and lotteries. Some scammers may call with threats of jail or lawsuits if you don't pay them. Do NOT answer scam alert or unknown callers or engage in conversations with them as this will encourage them to keep calling you. If you do not know the number, allow the call to go to your voice mail and do NOT call them back! Please call the number on the back of your card or your statement and explain your concerns to your financial institution. Oftentimes, they can provide you with information on how you can better protect your account from scammers. Do NOT click on links provided in text messages as these scammers are phishing for your personal information to commit fraud.

Identity Theft

Identity (ID) theft happens when someone steals your personal information to commit fraud. The identity thief may use your information to apply for credit, file taxes, or get medical services. These acts can damage your credit status, and cost you time and money to restore your good name.
